IBD, that helps to organize such Meetup groups, generally advocates the "buy high, sell higher" method of momentum investing. It's not for everyone, but this segment has made great strides recently with the creation of new software. For anyone who wants to explore this aspect of trading/investing, come to the meeting and see what it's all about. Visit the IBD website at <https://investors.com/> to see an extensive set of instructional materials, courses, news articles, and analysis tools.
